Dr. Kathy McNamee

MBBS, FRANCGP, DipVen, PGdip epi & bio, MEpi Family Planning Victoria. Box Hill. Senior medical officer at Family Planning Victoria. Honorary lecturer Monash Department Obstetrics and Gynaecology. Co-editor Contraception: Australian clinical practice handbook.

Basic science, indications, technique, selection of client, use of local anaesthetic and blocks, ancillary aspects, complications and use in HRT. Whether inserted in the surgery or the theatre, this is a skill much needed by rural doctors. Dummies for practicing insertion will be available for the weekend with tuition.

The workshop may be attended by itself or as part of a procedural training day.

RACGP Category 1 points or ACRRM PRDP: these can be obtained by filling in and returning a predisposing activity questionnaire, attending on the day, completing the evaluation, and attending one day's clinical experience in Box Hill. This also obtains FPV certification. All registrants will be sent the paperwork. Workshop only participants will receive RACGP Category 2 or ACRRM Core points.
